Flags on Fourth for the Fourth

Gay, brilliant flags lined nearly all the sidewalks in the Canyon business districts on the Fourth of July, as the Jaycees flag project got started. This line of flags was on Fourth Avenue on the square.

Wraps Suggested for Outdoor Showings Of Shakespeare's 'As You Like It'

For the outside performance of "As You Like It," director William A. Moore suggests that coats and blankets be brought—"just as you would for a football game."

The Palo Duro Players, who have been rehearsing outside for West Texas State College's summer theatre production of the Shakespearean comedy, have found the evenings "a little chilly."

"You can always remove your coat if it warms up," Moore said, night. Admission the first night "but it will be best to be prepared if the nights remain as cool as they have been."

The fourth summer show will open Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. and will continue through Saturday is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, and on other nights is 75 and 50 cents.

Staging for Shakespeare's pastoral comedy will be outside in front of the Education Building. In case of rain or bad weather, the performance will be moved to the Branding Iron Theatre.

NEWS WINS NEA CONTEST

The Canyon News was notified today that it had been awarded second place in the National Editoral Association contest for excellence in typography.

First place winner in the division was the Cadott, Wisconsin, Sentinel, and third place went to the Buffalo Center, Iowa, Tribune.

Last year, the Canyon News placed third in the same contest.

Highway Officer Thanks Citizens

"I'm proud of the people of Randall County for their cooperation in making this a safe county during the Fourth of July weekend," Highway Patrolman Gilbert Ray said Monday.

He said there were only three wrecks in the county during the weekend, and only one involved a Randall County citizen. The most serious injury was a broken nose, he said.

During the long holiday weekend, Patrolman Ray made 11 traffic arrests and issued 43 warnings. Of the 54 drivers he stopped, only eight were from Randall County —and they were all issued warnings.

"I want the people to know that I appreciated their cooperation," the patrolman said.

REGISTRATION IS TUESDAY

Registration for the second term of the summer session at West Texas State College will be held Tuesday, and classes will begin Wednesday.

First term students wind up final examinations Friday. Deadline for making applications for degrees at WT's summer commencement is July 18. Second term ends with examinations and commencement exercises on Aug. 22.

Episcopal Church Has Supply Vicar

The Rev. Alfred Krader, who moved to Canyon with his wife last week, will be supply vicar for All Saints Episcopal Church and for the Episcopal church in Hereford for the summer months.

The Rev. and Mrs. Krader are living in the Episcopal Little House of Fellowship. They came to Texas from Hawaii. Originally from Michigan, the Rev. Krader spent time in Hawaii during World War II and returned there after the war was over.

He was in the office supply and printing business for a number of years, but entered Episcopal ministry about three years ago. It is expected that he will serve as vicar for Kermit and Andrews beginning this fall.

Tax Hearings Set for Friday

Public hearings for Randall County taxpayers whose valuations have been raised will be held Friday.

The commissioners court acts as the board of equalization and will hold the hearings. Some 250 notices of raises were mailed to citizens of the county, according to Bill Money, tax collector.

A like number of valuations were lowered, Money said, but notices are not sent to those taxpayers.

Fourth Avenue Lights Now On

Street lights on Fourth Avenue from the square east to the city limits were turned on Tuesday night, making the street look almost as light as early dawn.

Crews have been at work about two weeks erecting the new standards, and the lights on the south side of the street were turned on last week. Completion of the new street lighting project will not come until later when special-order standards for the square arrive.

Wiring for the new lights is all overhead. The new lights are mercury vapor, and are designed to put about twice the amount of light on the streets as did the old lights.

Cleanup Campaign Closer

The Canyon Volunteer Fire Department helped the chamber of commerce close the cleanup campaign last week by burning off some of the weedy vacant lots in town. Two trucks made the rounds to keep the weed fires from catching other things on fire.

LL Braves Trip League Leaders

Eddie Poole pitched a five-hitter Monday night to beat the league-leading Redlegs, 19-3, in a Major League game played at the Little League Ball Park.

Redleg manager Velton Sorgee started a rookie, Tom Lair, who got two out quickly but could not get the third out. After the Braves had scored 12 runs, Don Hawkins took off his catching gear to strike out Stan Prichard.

In their half of the first, the Redlegs got their three runs on a triple by Bobby Evans, a walk to Joel Richardson, and a home run by Steve Burgess. Burgess' homer bounced off a car parked outside the left-center field fence.

No Redleg got further than first base after Burgess' homer until Burgess doubled to open the sixth. The Redlegs got three hits in the bottom of the sixth inning but failed to score.

The minor league Braves also won by beating the Redlegs 17-6. Don Abbott was the winning pitcher.

Saturday night Alex de Schweinitz pitched the Redlegs to a 17-4 win over the Dodgers. In the minor league game the Redlegs won, 14-6. Other scores are:

Thursday: Major: Yankees 12, Braves 9; Minor: Yankees 13, Braves 1; July 1: Major: Redlegs 3, Yankees 2; Minor Redlegs 9, Yankees 6.

On Wednesday night, the last half of the sixth inning of a game that had been called because of a dust storm was played. This game was called after five and one-half innings with the score tied Yankees 9, Dodgers 9. The Yankees scored one more run to take the game, 10-9, and complete the first half on the split season.

Prichard Given SAC Assignment

Lt. Col. Artist H. Prichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Prichard of Canyon, has been assigned as director of operations of Biggs Air Force Base's 810th Air Division, replacing Col. Earl S. Kimbell who left Biggs for a new assignment in California.

Prior to his present assignment, Col. Prichard was director of operations of the 95th Bomb Wing.

Col. Prichard has been a member of Strategic Air Command since 1948. He is credited with more than 6,000 hours flying time.

Senator Says No Consolidation, No Sales Tax, But Big Growth

A greatly increased population for Canyon, no consolidation of Potter and Randall Counties and no general state sales tax were predicted by State Sen. Grady Hazlewood in a speech for the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday.

The senator said he believes Canyon will have a population of 10,000 in five years and 20,000 in 10 years. "All of you folks that don't put new fronts on your stores are going to miss the goldrush," he said.

In predicting that no consolidation of the counties would come, Sen. Hazlewood said he is for saving money anytime it can be saved, but the principles of combining counties "just doesn't set right."

"We might as well let Dallas take us all over," the senator said. He said that if the majority of people in Canyon are for the consolidation, he would yield his position and vote for it. Earlier he had asked all the Canyon residents in the club to raise their hands if they were in favor of consolidation. None were raised.

"I told the city commission in Amarillo that if they didn't stop going out and grabbing everything in sight, if I could ever pass a law I'd stop that," he said.

In a short discussion of possible new taxes, Sen. Hazlewood predicted, "There won't be any kind of a general sales tax." He said there are presently sales taxes on various luxuries (25 per cent of the state revenue comes from them) but a general sales tax hurts people who cannot afford them.

The senator said the increases in automobile insurance have come from the greater expense of replacing wraparound windshields and from huge judgments given by juries in damage suits. He said the state has been redistricted for purposes of figuring insurance.

Amarillo and Canyon are now in the same district, and the rate increase announced last week for the district is the lowest in the state.

Discussing government in general, Sen. Hazlewood said the people create the kind of government they want. "You make good government, and the responsibility is on you," he said.

Commissioners Serve Dual Duties

(This is the third in a series of articles giving the duties and statutory qualifications for contested county offices. This deals with county commissioners. —Editor)

County commissioners have a dual role in the functions of their offices — that of general overseer of the operation of the county as a whole and of specific oversight for county affairs in their individual precincts.

According to statute, each county must be divided into four precincts, and a commissioner is elected from each of the four by the voters residing in that precinct.

The commissioner candidates must not have fought a duel and must meet the general regulations for ages and citizenship. The candidates must have lived in the precinct for six months and the county a year before being eligible.

Since 1954, terms of office for the members of the commissioners court are four years, with two of the commissioners being elected each two years.

Salaries for the commissioners are limited by the legislature on the basis of taxable valuation, but the court sets the salaries at the beginning of each year. Randall County Commissioners are paid $3820 per year, plus $50 per month traveling expenses. The travel money is provided because the commissioners act as their own road overseers.

In addition to setting their own salaries, the commissioners set the salaries for all elected officials and all county employees. They must approve the hiring of any employee by any of the officials, although they are generally guided by the recommendations of the official concerned.

The court decided the number of employees that each office shall have. The only office that the court does not fill is that of the county auditor. He is appointed by the district judge, and his salary is set by the judge.

When any elected office is vacated through death, resignation or whatever, the commissioners court fills the vacancy through appointment until the next general election. A vacancy on the commissioners court is filled by appointment by the county judge.

Operating as an individual commissioner, the Randall County commissioners take care of roadwork in their own precincts and oversee the work of the road hands. They make their own decisions about how the funds allocated to their precincts shall be spent, and as a general rule, the other members of the court approve the decisions.

The commissioners court is charged with handling the finances of the county. They approve the annual budget which is prepared by the auditor. The auditor checks with each official in preparing the budget.

The commissioners court sets the tax rate and approves the tax role. Acting as a board of equalization, the court approves and disapproves any changes in taxable valuations and holds public hearings for property owners whose valuations were changed.

The court approves all requests for equipment from each of the offices except for small emergencies and regular yearly purchases of office supplies and legal blanks. Those are purchased by the auditor, and the bills are approved by the court.

Each month, the court approves bills submitted to the county for payment. The bills are pre-audited by the auditor and approved as being legal bills.

The bills are then submitted to the commissioners court, and they are examined. The vouchers must carry the initials of two of the commissioners and the county judge. As a general practice, each commissioner checks the bills submitted for his precinct, then all check the bills submitted for the general fund.

The commissioners court must provide and keep in repair a courthouse, jail and other public buildings as necessary. The sheriff is custodian of the courthouse and jail, but the money is appropriated by the commissioners court.

The commissioners court joins with the state in hiring the county home demonstration and agricultural agents. They set up the election precincts and appoint election judges.

The court acts on petitions to open and close roads, and must approve plats of housing and subdivisions outside city limits. They must provide for pauper care and burial, and supervise the operations of public welfare.

In the present day operation of purchasing right of way for state and federal highways, with 50-50 participation in costs, the commissioners court must decide how to finance the purchases and call bond elections if necessary. After the money is available, the commissioners must decide whether to hire a purchasing agent or handle negotiations themselves. At the present, an agent is working on the Amarillo-to-Canyon expressway while the commissioners themselves are working on Highway 60 west.

The commissioners may also negotiate for right of way in widening county roads and making them farm-to-market roads. The court is supposed to decide which county roads will be farm-to-market, but as a matter of fact, that decision is most often made by the highway department.

The court must canvass all general and special elections and certify the reports as correct. The court also approves the election of the county school board, and sets the tax rate for the Umbarger Common School District.

The Randall County Commissioners Court meets every Monday. The second and fourth Mondays of each month are the regular sessions and begin at 10 a. m. The alternate Mondays are special meetings and begin at 1 p. m.

As with practically any public official, the commissioners are on call at all times, and usually must be able to leave their regular business at odd times.

The commissioners for precincts 2 and 4 are up for election this year.

There are two candidates for Precinct 2, Clarence Beckman, the incumbent, and Joe Wieck.

In Precinct 4, there are three candidates, C. Y. Johnson, the incumbent, Calvin Casey and L. H. Borger.

Only those voters who live in Precincts 2 and 4 may vote on the candidates. Precinct 2 has voting precincts 2, 7 and 8; and Precinct 4 has voting precincts 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15.

These Scenes Go Together

When rain swells the Tierra Blanca Creek, above, and the Palo Duro Creek, the two combine to put a huge volume of water through the Palo Duro Canyon. And, usually, the water maroons someone on the wrong side. Last weekend's rain, totaling 3.75 inches in Canyon, sent the water up in the canyon Sunday afternoon and 10 people were caught on the wrong side. The Canyon fire department's pickup truck with generator and lights went out to light up the area. The people were rescued by a National Guard wrecker early Monday.

New Judge Roy Bean?

So Congress has invited Alaska to become a state and the three counties of the Big Bend have petitioned to be separated from the rest of Texas to be reformed into the State of Big Bend.

That's not strictly accurate—the Alpine City Commission passed a resolution calling for the new state and sent the resolution to their Congressman. The people in that area, there are 17,000 of them, are tired of being left out by Texas officials.

They complain that no statewide candidates bother to come to their country. They probably notice that the legislature pays no attention to their needs.

The Big Bend country is in no worse shape than a lot of West Texas and the Panhandle.

Downstate residents don't know there is anything north or west of the Austin-Temple area, except that there are a lot of miles to drive through if you happen to be going to Colorado for a mountain vacation.

Oftentimes, statewide candidates, especially Sen. Lyndon Johnson, come up here—but they like to come in the fall so they can get a little quail hunting in. Other candidates have made the Panhandle swing, but usually a flying trip that might take all of one day.

Amarillo, and probably Lubbock, have gotten strong enough that some of their needs are met by the legislature—but not many of them. The rest of the towns and counties in this country are out in the cold, for the most part.

We can see why the Big Bend folks might like to be the 50th state. But we think they're making a mistake. You see, those three counties live off ranching and tourist trade. They've practically no discovered mineral resources, no manufacturing—little outside income.

If the people of the three counties would get together with their friends in Reeves, Pecos, Terrell, Culberson, Hudspeth and El Paso Counties, they'd have a better economic opportunity. There's oil and gas in some of those counties, and El Paso is quite a mint for federal installations.

But what's better—all those counties lie west of the Pecos River, and the State of Big Bend would then be the "Law West of the Pecos."

Pot's a Kettle

Law's a mercy, them folks in Washington sure can get in a mess. The pot's always calling the kettle black, and from a distance the ordinary citizen can't tell the difference.

One side accuses the other of wiretapping, and the other side catches the first side eavesdropping with electronics. The "outs" are horrified at the carryings-on of the "ins," then when the "outs" become the "ins" they do the same sort of thing and the former "ins" are horrified at the carryings-on of the former "outs."

Sherman Adams is no better than Gen. Harry Vaughan, and both should have been sacked immediately.

Some politicians are saying that no official should receive any gifts at all. We don't go along with that, not all the way.

We believe that elected officials can use whatever judgment they might have about accepting gifts—after all the people are supposed to have the last say about their conduct. But appointed officials should be fired immediately if they accept any gifts.

The people have no say at all about appointees. Ike says he needs Adams, and Adams stays so long as Ike wants him.

The defense that everybody else does it is no defense at all, even though the pot gets blacker than the kettle.

No Wondering

When the temperature climbs into the 90's for days on end, and it seems as if the wind will never stop blowing, we begin to wonder why in the world anyone would want to live in this country.

Then along comes a period of rain, clouds, cool daytime temperatures and near-frigid nights, and the wondering goes away.

Where else outside the mountains can you find such a climate for fine living?

An Odd Year

Maybe we're talking to the wrong people, but we haven't found anyone yet who is talking politics. That's odd for an election year.

Oh, we find some people who want to talk about politics. They say, "What are you hearing about politics?" But it usually turns out they've heard no one talking, and are just wondering if we have.

Unless things perk up in the next couple of weeks, we predict there will be a light turnout at the polls for the Democratic primary.

At any rate, if you don't plan to be in town on July 26, get hold of the county clerk's office and get yourself an absentee ballot. They're available up until three days before the election.

Advantageous

There are certain advantages in living on an unpaved street at the edge of town.

The one which pops into our mind first is that very few drivers will use the street as a race track to prove their car is faster than another

Early night sleep in some parts of Canyon is disturbed by the deadly sound of racing motors and squealing tires—but not our street Our car sounds are the rattles and bangs of autos bouncing on washed-out chugholes.

Flags Perk Up

Didn't the business sections of Canyon look good on the Fourth of July?

The flag program of the Jaycees really bore fruit, and the plan bids fair to set Canyon apart from its fellow small cities. We'll bet there weren't many towns that had flags in front of nearly every business house on the Fourth of July.

Of course the Jaycees jumped into the flag business at the wrong time. Their first order of flags will have to be burned in just over a year. They ordered 36 new flags, received notice of shipment, and the next day Congress passed the Alaskan statehood bill. The Jaycees will have to buy more new flags for the next Fourth of July.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

In San Antonio:

There is a Davy Crockett parking lot. Where is it located? Just across the street to the back of the Alamo, naturally.

Sanborn's travel agency has a sign, "Yankee spoken here."

He was a picturesque vagabond who would have looked at home on the streets of Paris; certainly his like could be seen nowhere in Texas except in gay, unconventional San Antonio. His suit was baggy, his hat was shapeless. He drew from his pocket a piece of bread which he crumbled and then strewed the bits along the concrete railing of a bridge over the little river, then whistled what was really a low chirrup and the pigeons responded to the invitation.

After the feast, he sauntered on — probably not knowing where he would eat his next meal nor where he would spend the night — but this was morning and a spring morning at that; and he went smilingly on his way. A dyspeptic, gray-haired millionaire from the North looked at the retreating figure with an expression of envy.

State Line Avenue in Texarkana divides Texas from Arkansas. The boundary runs down the middle of the street. When I visited there in 1925 as roving reporter for the old Fort Worth Record, I was told that a prisoner, wanted in one State, was being held in the other. He refused to waive extradition.

Ordinarily this would mean an application to the governor and then a hearing — a slow and expensive process.

But (so I was told) two officers said to the prisoner, "Come with us" and took him for a walk. As they were going down the middle of the street, one of the officers stumped his toe and bumped the prisoner so hard that he was knocked across the State line. Two officers of the other State just happened to be there and grabbed him — all perfectly legal and saving time and money.

The late State Senator Harley Sadler had a long career as the owner and star comedian in the tent-show business. He was especially popular in West Texas where the annual visit of the troupe was looked forward to by the entire town.

I once asked him, "Why didn't you ever go to Hollywood or New York as an actor? I am sure you had the opportunity."

He replied, "Yes — but I might not have succeeded. You know, Boyce, a fellow doesn't have to be very good if folks like him."

A modest remark by a capable actor who brought pleasure to many thousands of people.

Jimmie Gillentine in the Hereford Brand: This looks like one of those weeks when I can't think of anything to write about. Reminds me of our son, Buz, who is attending a camp near Las Vegas, N. M. We got a one-sentence letter from him the other day. All he said was:

"Well, I've got to close now; it's time to eat lunch. Love, Buz."

Gene Alford in the Moore County News: We came across a terrific new industry for Moore County, which should make us all rich.

We were recently presented with a small can of a rare and delicate food . . . fried grasshoppers. Our mother, who lives out here, had read of our 'hopper invasion . . . and suggested we develop a packing plant in Moore County.

The can of fried grasshoppers which she gave us is about the size of a small potted meat can . . . and sells for 60 cents. We haven't the nerve to try one . . . but if they bring that kind of money, Moore County is missing a bet.

In our absence (the column was written while Alford was on vacation in California), we suggest an immediate conference of the Dumas C of C Board of Directors. We need to study this thing out. This could make the natural gas industry obsolete. Let's see now . . . ten . . . twelve . . . twenty billion grasshoppers . . . twenty-five to the can . . . sixty cents a cen . . . we can hardly wait to get home.

"We don't have any oil for the feet at all," she declared promptly.

It's getting harder and harder to seem queer. There was a time when the 'proper' way to live and think was set by our community. Anyone who varied the pattern of activity was considered a little off base.

But these days a fellow can just about cut his own pattern. If he's reasonably considerate of family and neighbors, he can go around clad only in trunks and sandals — or a raccoon coat and straw hat — and folks will hardly notice. If quizzed about his attire, he has only to give a sensible-sounding excuse, such as need for sun on the skin, or an allergy cured by raccoon fur.

He may set as his chief aim in life a new record for holding his breath; growing bigger gladioli; or carving tiny wooden figures. He can paint butterflies, swallow fire, be a flagpole sitter, toe dance, or clean out swimming pools for a living — and still be accepted as a normal person just so long as he seems to enjoy it.

Some recent news stories started us thinking about these things. A woman has set a record for church attendance — an unbroken score for 83 years, all in the same little church. A Yugoslavian girl has broken the high jump record for women. A New Yorker keeps 49 dogs in her home because she can't stand to have them tied up; police uphold her right to spend $30 a day on dog food, and live in a menagerie, provided she'll clean the place so it's normally sanitary.

Personally, we don't want to keep half a hundred dogs, jump high, or spend an entire life time in one place, but we cherish that right for others. Takes all kinds to make up this wacky world.

Patrons Should Use Postal Zone Numbers

In connection with the Post Office Department's campaign to encourage the use of delivery zone numbers, Marion Higdon, Canyon postmaster, has urged all patrons to include the postal zone number when addressing mail to cities where zone numbers are used.

Zone numbers indicate sub-stations in the larger cities and faster service is possible when the mail can go directly to the sub-station for sorting instead of the central post office.

Residents should not confuse the postal zone number used in addressing mail with the zones used in determining the parcel post rates.

Vows Repeated in Refugio Church By Sandra Lee Moss, Don McDonald

Sandra Lee Moss and Donald Bryan McDonald were married Friday, June 27, at 6:30 p. m. in Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church at Refugio with Rt. Rev. Msgr. William H. Oberste officiating.

The double ring vows were read before an altar holding an arrangement of white gladioli and asters with commodore foliage. Two tall baskets of white gladioli were placed in front of the communion rail, which was decorated with huckleberry and white wedding bells. Cathedral candles were used to complete the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moss of Refugio, and the groom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald of Canyon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white formal length gown of imported hand-clipped calais lace and chiffon tulle. The smoothly molded elongated bodice was fashioned with a bateau neckline dipped to a V in the back, and motifs in the lace were re-embroidered with opalescent bridal sequins and dainty seed pearls. Lace fashioned the elbow length sleeves. Sweeping to the hemline below the bodice wide inset panels of lace alternating with tulle vertically over layers of net and taffeta created a bouffant skirt. A southern bell hoop was worn for added bouffance.

Her veil was tiers of French illusion cascading to below the waist, from a dainty lace half hat encrusted with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of frenched carnations and lilies of the valley with lace leaves.

Mrs. Patricia Kelly of Refugio was matron of honor, and Mrs. Tony Wehmeyer of Colorado Springs, Colo., was bridesmaid.

They wore deep corn flower blue chiffon dance length dresses. Shirred, fitted bodices were topped by cowl yokes in front, which swept around to form floating panels from a shallow V in back. The gathered skirts were chiffon over net and taffeta.

Their diminuitive hats were lacy starched net adorned with dainty blue velvet bows. Matching accessories were worn. Their bouquets were cascades of pale pink frenched carnations.

Walkers Sanders of Sinton served as best man, and Charles McDonald of Midland, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Joel Koonce Jr. of Refugio, Herb Wiginton of Callen and Gary Griffith of Harlingen.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the Club Room of the City Hall. The bride's table was laid with a pink taffeta cloth with an overlay of net and held an arrangement of pink carnations and white wedding bells. Palm trees and baskets of white gladioli were placed at vantage points throughout the hall. The guest register table was adorned with a bouquet of Elfie roses.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Jimmy Murphy, Corpus Christi; Coranne Young and Lou Ann Thompson, Harlingen; Mrs. Russel Abbott, San Marcos; Frances Koonce, Hungerford; Manon Ray, Brownsville; Mrs. Albert Fuller, Gonzales; Mrs. Curtis Ray, Floresville; Patricia Buhler, Edna; Mrs. Bill Skipworth and Mrs. Bill Coleman, Kingsville; Mrs. Joe Turcotte, Mrs. Jimmy Chandler and Mrs. Wayne Ferking, Sarita; Mrs. Dale Moss and Nancy Harris, San Antonio; Mrs. Malcomb Smith, Monroe, La.; Mrs. Harold Bauer, Bryan.

Mrs. Han Market, Goliad; Beverly Wilpitz, Mrs. Bobby Wright, Barbara Baber, Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mrs. Lawley Epperson, Mrs. Edd Epperson, Mrs. W. O. Ficlin, Mrs. J. E. Bauer Sr., Mrs. Garland Hodges and Mrs. Vernon Jones, all of Refugio; Mrs. Charles McDonald, Midland; and Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Hereford, sister of the groom.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will spend the summer in Canyon, and then in the fall they will be in Karnes City, where he will be head basketball coach in the high school and she will teach in the elementary school.

The bride is a graduate of Refugio High School and from Texas A.&I. College in Kingsville where she was a member of Delta Theta sorority. The groom was graduated from Canyon High School and A.&I. College. He was a member of the "T" Association Club.

Glenn Takes Part In Fleet Exercise

Navy Cmdr. Everett M. Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Glenn of Canyon, aboard the heavy cruiser USS Los Angeles took part in the First Fleet visit to the San Francisco Bay area July 3-7.

The visit commemorated the 50th anniversary of the visit of the Great White Fleet to San Francisco during its cruise around the world.

Following a long weekend of recreation, including many civic sponsored events, the Fleet put to sea July 7 for a five day striking force exercise, code named "Blue Bolt."

The operation involves 36 ships, 26 squadrons of naval aircraft and over 22,000 personnel. Ships and planes at sea will form fast moving "Blue" attack carrier teams which will strike out against simulated mainland targets. "Orange" defensive teams consisting of shore based Naval aircraft and submarines will try to outwit the invaders.

Everyone loves a picnic. And this is the picnic season!

Some outdoors lovers are content to make it a twosome. Hundreds of families make it strictly a family affair. Also there are some mighty big Texas-size picnics —when as many as a dozen families get toether to make a full day of it.

Whether you prefer a private party or a huge crowd, the time for fullest enjoyment of the great outdoors in Texas has arrived. Tie it in with boating, skiing or fishing and it will be even more enjoyable.

For outdoor fun at its best take along a tent and camping gear and make it a real week-end of honest-to-goodness relaxation. Thousands of Texans discovered long ago that camping is an exciting and economical way to spend an enjoyable vacation. So, don't overlook the possibilities of several days or even weeks of camping out under the Texas skies.

Texas has 49 State Parks of which 32 have camping facilities. There are hundreds of lakes and rivers plus the magnificent Golden Gulf Coast. Add to these attractions the bountiful forests of East Texas and the beautiful mountains of West Texas . . . and the Longhorn State seems to possess most everything. All tempt the tourist, the camper, and the picnic lover.

No wonder the interest in our great outdoors is on the increase. It is there to be enjoyed — and our people are enjoying it.

Try it yourself at your very next opportunity.

Picnics Made Easy

Dehydrated foods are making it easier on the outdoors people. These packaged products have proved very helpful to the picnickers and overnight campers who have their own camp stoves.

Quick-fix drinks, soups, and milks are mighty handy for the camper. Nowadays you can get "instant" tea, coffee, cocoa, milk and malted milk. Almost any kind of soup is available. Texas' own Lipton Tea Co. of Galveston produces a wide variety of soups in envelopes of 2 and 4 oz. weights that will serve up to four people per envelope. All you have to do is add water and heat to a boiling point.

Today nearly any grocer can supply you with instant mashed potatoes, instant rice, etc. Ketchup, jellies and jams also are available in space-saving plastic envelopes. In fact new foods or old foods in new packages — ideal for campers — are coming on the market almost every week.

To add further pleasure and convenience to your picnic The Coleman Co. now has a Pak-Table — a folding picnic table that's truly remarkable. When the table is collapsed it measures only about three feet square by a few inches thick. Yet it contains four folding seats and enough space to stow cooking utensils, tableware and groceries. Furthermore it makes a very attractive package.

Coleman also has a new cooler, the Snow-Lite. It comes in flashy pink or green. The cooler is light weight yet rugged. Although it is designed primarily to keep drinks and food cool Coleman has a good suggestion for fishermen. Their recommendation is that fish be cleaned and iced just as fast as they are caught.

All that's necessary is for the fisherman to place a layer of ice in the bottom of the cooler, then take the cooler along with him in the boat. As he catches fish, he simply cuts around the gill collars and down the belly, twists off the head, rinses the stomach cavity and pops the cleaned fish into the cooler. No trouble, no spoiled fish and half the cleaning chore done before he gets home.

Sure beats lifting a stringer in and out of the water every time you make a catch or decide to move to a new location. Most important, however, is the fact that it keeps fish as fresh as when they came out of the water.

Any cooler will do, of course, but Coleman's plastic-lined cooler is ideal for this purpose because it's so easy to clean. A spoonful of ammonia in the wash water and an hour in the sun will remove the fish smell.

Incidentally, this Wichita, Kan., firm has a free 40-page booklet entitled "More Fun Outdoors." It contains many fishing, camping, cooking and travel tips.

Ocean Cruise

Two Texans, both Admirals in the Texas Navy, are England bound in an 18-foot boat powered by outboard motors.

The 4,200 mile voyage will be made in a fiberglass cabin cruiser, the newest product of the Whitehouse Boat Co. of Fort Worth. Whitehouse calls it The Lark Liner. The Admirals have named it The Dream Girl. It is equipped with two 35-hp Buccaneer motors, made by Gale Products Co. of Galesburg, Ill. Special tanks have been installed in the stern of the boat to provide for 420 gallons of gasoline.

James Pirtle and Roy Sutter are the two ocean-crossing Texans who are making the long voyage out of Cambridge, Mass. They expect to make the trip in 10 days.

For Better Eating

Next time you land one of those big yellow cats and want to make it into one of the juciest meals, drain the blood through his tail before you cut him up.

Usual procedure is to make the kill with an ice pick through the top of his head, between the eyes, then slice off the tail just above the tail fin and hang him up by his head. All the blood then will drain through the tail and make for better looking, better tasting meat.

Skinning the Cat

Most fishermen skin the catfish before storing in the deep freeze. But not many of them skin their bass.

Here's how one fellow does it. He follows the usual procedure of removing the fish's insides and head — but he doesn't scale it. Instead he wraps the fish in foil, with scales on, and drops it in the deep freeze. Then when he is ready to cook he peels the skin, scales and all, off the fish, much like you skin a catfish. Much quicker, much easier than scraping off the scales, he says, and better eating too. Ever try it?

Miss Marshall Gets Scholarship

Mary Gladys Marshall, who lives east of Canyon, has been awarded a scholarship to Trinity University in San Antonio by the United Presbyterian Church (U. S. A.) Board of Christian Education.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Marshall, Miss Marshall is one of 50 persons receiving scholarship grants for the academic year 1958-59. The scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis and may be used in any of the 46 colleges related to the United Presbyterian Church (U. S. A.)

The winners were selected on the basis of qualifying tests administered by the College Entrance Examination Board, and on leadership potential, as demonstrated by service in the church, school and community. The scholarships are awarded for the freshman year, and are renewable if the students maintain superior college records. The size of each grant is based on the recipient's financial need.

The National Presbyterian College Scholarship program was established by the United Presbyterian (U. S. A.) Board of Christian Education in 1956 to bring outstanding Presbyterian young people into Presbyterian church-related colleges.

Miss Marshall, a graduate of Canyon High School in May, was treasurer of her sophomore class, president and public relations chairman for the Future Homemakers of America and president of the National Honor Society. Named to the Junior Who's Who, she received her state degree in FHA work. A member of the First Presbyterian Church, she was named to the All-Regional Choir this year.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The following practices have been applied on the farms listed below:

Leo Artho, Wilhelm Bauer, Rudolph Friemel, Richard Friemel, David Horn and C. B. Rittenberry have had underground concrete pipe lines installed.

Watkins Brothers and Harold H. Ladehoff have installed plastic underground irrigation pipe.

Tom Bursey of Amarillo built some terraces on his farm. These were laid out and checked by SCS technicians.

T. B. Davis of Amarillo built a large pond on his ranch.

L. C. Moore built a nice dam on his farm. This was also designed, staked and checked by SCS technicians.

Burney Slack had a pasture diversion and a field diversion built. The diversion will spread the water evenly and will eventually heal the gullies.

The supervisors of the Soil Conservation District and technicians of the Soil Conservation Service would like for all the farmers in the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District to become cooperators. The advantages of being a cooperator are many. The district has machinery available, and the services of the SCS technicians are free to the cooperators.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Farm Bill

The Agriculture Committee of the House of Representatives last week voted out an omnibus farm bill that undertook to solve some of the dilemmas which have plagued the agricultural segment of our economy. It was a highly controversial measure.

In fact, during the committee hearings all of the Republicans, except one, walked out of the hearing room at one point in protest to the measure. Nevertheless, the bill was voted out with approval and was sent to the Rules Committee.

The Rules Committee is sometimes called the Legislative Traffic Cop Committee. This Committee passes upon the manner in which legislation is to be presented to the House, the length of debate and other procedural matters. The controversy concerning the farm bill was, of course, renewed in the Rules Committee; however, it was voted out of the Rules Committee by a resolution authorizing the House to debate the measure for five hours.

This Resolution was subject to debate, and the question was whether or not the House would adopt the Resolution and thereby clear the way for consideration of the farm bill. Tempers ran high, and there was much oratory.

The matter was approached on a partisan basis, and it soon developed that the vote would be along Party lines. When the time came to vote on the Resolution, it appeared that it would be very close.

Had the Resolution been adopted, we could have considered the farm bill and it probably would have passed. However, the Republican Members of Congress, almost without exception, voted against the Resolution, which was a vote against the farm bill. There was a split in the Democratic Party.

A number of the Representatives from the big cities forsook the farm bloc and voted against the Resolution. This, of course, swung the pendulum against the farmers, and the result was that we lost the Resolution by approximately 40 votes.

Mr. Benson, the Secretary of Agriculture, had attacked the bill as an "economic monstrosity" and had stated that if the bill was taken up and considered by the House, it would probably ruin his trip to Russia this year. Admitted, there were some rough spots in the bill.

These rough spots could have been cured by amendments, and the indications were that such amendments would be offered and adopted. The matter that concerned me was why so many Members did not want to debate the bill. It could have been debated and those who were not satisfied could have voted against it on final passage.

However, what happened was that we were cut off from even presenting the agricultural side of the picture. To me, this was not in keeping with what should have been done.

Let us hope that legislation concerning the vital problems of this great segment of our nation will be brought up again during this session so that the matter can be treated before adjournment.

Woman, First Aid Equals a Fishy Tale

Mrs. K. E. Hines, 211 Fourth Avenue, who took a first aid course in college 20 years ago, recently used her knowledge to save a life.

Mrs. Hines was keeping a goldfish belonging to Mrs. Earline Moreman, 2002 Sixth Avenue, while Mrs. Moreman was out of town.

Returning home one afternoon the Hines family found the goldfish floating on top of the water. The fish, which had turned white, was placed in fresh water, brought by Stephen Hines from the family water well. The fish still floated.

Keith Hines pumped oxygen into the water. Still no response.

Then Mrs. Hines used her first aid knowledge. She gave the fish artificial respiration by pressing regularly behind the fish's gills. The fish gasped. Mrs. Hines persisted. Finally the fish began to breathe unaided again.

"We all thought it was dead, but that first aid saved it, Mrs. Hines said. "That was the first time I had used my first aid training since I took the course."

Spending last week fishing near Creede, Colo., were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Prichard and two grandchildren, Anne and Mike Prichard, of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Zello and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Black.

The piccolo is the highest pitched of all instruments.

Present were Miss Smith, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Ruthart, Mrs. Lynn Williams, Mrs. Meade Humphries, Mrs. Jack Taylor, Janet Taylor, and the hostesses, Mrs. Walter Graham, Billie Graham and Mrs. Nolon Henson.

Mrs. Joe Thompson and Sarah are spending this week in Las Vegas and Taos, N. M.

Top National Band Director on Faculty of Annual Music Camp

DR. RONALD D. GREGORY

One of the nation's top college band directors, Dr. Ronald D. Gregory of Indiana University, will be a guest conductor and instructor at the sixth annual West Texas Music Camp, Aug. 4-15, at West Texas State College.

Director of bands at Indiana, Dr. Gregory will conduct the camp's Symphonic Band, which will be composed of the best musicians, to be chosen by audition. The Symphonic Band is one of three concert groups to be organized for the camp, along with a reading band, a choir, twirling and instrumental ensembles.

The camp gets underway with registration and organization on Aug. 3, and continues with daily rehearsals, section meetings, and a full schedule of music activities, through Aug. 15. Camp director is David L. Kaplan, assistant professor of music at WT.

Dr. Gregory became director of bands at Indiana in 1956 and quickly brought the University's four bands -- Marching Hundred, Symphonic, Varsity, and ROTC bands-- into prominence. He was formerly director of bands and chairman of music education at the University of Utah, music department head for the Associated Colleges of upper New York, and director of music in the Franklin director of music in the Franklin, Ohio, public schools.

The bandsman, now president of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary fraternity for bandsmen, earned his B. S. and M. A. degrees at Ohio State University and his Ph. D. from the University of Oregon. He is currently Indiana State Chairman of the College Band Directors National Association.

A member of the American Bandmaster Association, Dr. Gregory will also serve during the summer as a guest conductor at the International Pease Gardens in North Dakota, the Indiana University Music Clinic, and the Western States Band Clinic in Los Angeles. He has served as guest conductor, clinician, and adjudicator in 30 states.

The West Texas Music Camp, with an enrollment of 300, will feature concentrated study of instruments, twirling, choral work, and other classes, as well as a well-rounded recreational program during its two weeks. A number of concerts by the camp bands will be open to the public, and a "grand finale" concert by all groups will wind up the camp Aug. 15.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Manley of Canyon, a girl, born July 3.

First Forrester Water Comes In

Canyon had its first taste of water from the Forrester waterfield Friday, and the chlorine was strong enough to straighten curly hair.

The water was let into the regular system for a short time in order to test valves and cutoffs. The chlorine came from the pipe line—a half pound was left in every few joints so the pipe would be disinfected. The chlorine will disappear within a short time after the line goes into general use, though.

Workmen are finishing the new system now. Work lacking is the completion of a new chlorinating system and sanding, painting and putting a new bottom in the Santa Fe tank moved to the Forrester land.

After completion, the entire system will be tested again, the line will be checked again for leaks and the ditch will be backfilled again where it has sunk. No date has been set for accepting the new system.

Former Resident Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Daniel McIntire Stewart, 68, of Brady were held at 1:30 p. m. yesterday in Pampa and burial was at 5 p. m. here.

Services for the former Canyon resident were held in the Harvester and Mary Ellen Church of Christ in Pampa with the Rev. Jim Perkins officiating. Burial was under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home in Pampa.

Mr. Stewart died at 1 p. m. Sunday in the Highland General Hospital in Pampa. He had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Ben Hand of Skellytown. Prior to moving to Brady, he had lived in Canyon for several years.

Survivors include his wife, Zera of Brady; three daughters, Mrs. Hand, Mrs. Roy J. Huffman of Snyder, and Mrs. George M. Archer of Big Spring; a stepdaughter, Janice Owen of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. Kathryn Hoffman and Mrs. Mildred Reynolds, both of Texas City, and Mrs. John A. Mae Stuart of Denton; two brothers, Marvin Stewart of Aubrey and J. W. Stewart of LaMarque; one granddaughter and one grandson.

Visiting Mrs. J. C. Dowd last week were a sister, Mrs. Murray Evans of Tulia, and a brother, the Rev. J. B. Rowan of Amarillo and Springlake.

Jowell HD Elects Mrs. Dietz Prexy

Officers were elected as the Jowell Home Demonstration Club met July 2 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Spencer with the president, Mrs. T. J. Bonds, calling the meeting to order.

Mrs. J. B. Dietz will be president next year. Other officers are Mrs. Spencer, vice president; Mrs. E. J. Davis, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Jack Powell, council delegate.

A program on agriculture and the Bible was presented by Mrs. E. C. Robinson, and Mrs. Bond discussed how all people are served by agriculture. GLADIOLI TO BE DISCUSSED

Everyone is invited to attend.

Dress Revue Set for Friday

Friday is the day for the county wide 4-H Club dress revue to be held at 10 a. m. at the Randall County Farm Bureau building, according to Mrs. Mona K. Hildreth, county home demonstration agent.

The garments, made as part of the girls' learning activities in club work, will be judged in four divisions, aprons, skirts, special occasion and best dresses and school dresses. Judges are expected to be Pauline Lokey, Potter County home demonstration agent, and Virginia Hill, Armstrong County home demonstration agent.

The county winner, who must be at least 14 years of age and been in club work three or more years, will represent the county in the district contest, if her garment comes up to the standards.

Judging points will be the girl: posture, poise, grooming, attitude, 25 points; outfit on the girl, becomingness to girl, choice of texture, style and color, fit, accessories and value for the money spent, 50 points; construction: accurate cutting and quality of work, 25 points; records: 4-H projects and activities, 4-H leadership and personal development, 25 points.

"I cannot stress the importance of the girls having their records well prepared too much," Mrs. Hildreth said. "That is where they are weakest in most contests. Besides, the records give indication of well rounded persons. We try, as educators do, to award the honors to the well rounded persons."

Returning to the United States after spending the last three years in Tripoli, Capt. F. A. Thomas Jr. and family visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Thomas for the last three weeks. The guests have returned to Peoria, Ill., where he will be instructor of military science at the University of Illinois.

Leaflets Show Museum Paintings

Several hundred copies of two leaflets in a series published for school use by the Texas Game and Fish Commission have been received for distribution by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

The two color leaflets are reproductions of two paintings of the pre-historic saber-toothed tiger and of elephants and mastodons which hang in the museum's section on paleontology and geology.

The paintings were done in the 1930's by Gustaf Sundstrom, who at that time prepared many of the museum's dioramas and wild life displays. Sundstrom is now a division chief in the commercial fishery department of the Department of Fish and Wild Life, a branch of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Everett T. Dawson, director of education and publications for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, compiled the series of leaflets for distribution to teachers and students in public schools. The "Teachers and Pupils Packets" were first prepared about two years ago, and were revised in 1958.

Text on the leaflets describes the habitat of the animals, other animals which lived at the same time, the climate, the food habits, enemies of the animals, and the manner in which skeletons of the subjects were preserved.

Fred Standley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Standley of Canyon, recently won the Wyman Memorial Award as the outstanding Attorney General in the nation. Standley is the Attorney General of New Mexico.

The plaque, voted to Standley by his colleagues from other states, is awarded by the National Association of Attorneys General to the person who, in the opinion of the state attorneys general, ran the best operated office in the United States. The award, named for Louis E. Wyman, New Hampshire, a former governor of the American Bar Association, was made at the national convention of the group in Chicago in June.

The honor came as the 36-year-old Standley, youngest attorney general in the nation, was retiring after a single term. He will join the Albuquerque law firm of Grantham, Spann and Sanchez.

Readers' Editorials

(The editor welcomes comment from readers, on any subject. The Canyon News reserves the right to edit any letter to make it conform to postal and libel laws. To be published, each letter must be signed, but the name may be withheld if requested. Please keep letters to 300 words or less.)

Dear Editor,

My boy was bitten by a half-wild dog. For six days I coordinated the friendly and cooperative efforts of the Globe-News agency manager, city police, sheriff, county health officer, Dr. Markham, the veterinarian, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Connor. On the sixth day the dog was brought under control and penned for observation.

Why was this dog still at large? She had no collar, thus no rabies tag. She was half-starved. Her two front legs were crippled. She had given birth to eight puppies who in turn will be half-wild if they are not cared for.

For my part I know why she was still around. Because people like myself think some vague creature called "Canyon" should be tending to such situations. I found out this last week that

I AM CANYON

Now all I ask is that the readers of the Canyon News become "Canyon" also. Everyone look in the mirror and see Canyon and act to control dangerous elements in our community.

Please, let every citizen check his neighborhood for uncared for animals and call the police. Death may seem cruel but nothing could be more cruel than the condition of the wild, starved, too wise, female dog that bit my child.

C. Boone McClure, director of the museum, said the mounted photographs will be displayed in the museum's art galleries throughout the month.

Lou Croley, Roland O'Donald Wed In Ceremony at Methodist Church

A double ring ceremony, performed June 27 by the Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor, in the First Methodist Church, united Lou Croley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Evans of Amarillo, and Roland O'Donald, son of E. E. O'Donald of Palo Duro Club and the late Mrs. O'Donald.

A trio composed of Sybil Todd, Gracie Newman and Sylvia Ramsey sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest." Miss Todd sang "O Perfect Love" by Barnby, and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen was organist.

The altar was decorated with pink pleated satin, candelabra bearing white tapers and baskets of pink gladioli.

Candlelighters were Shirley O'Donald, sister of the bridegroom, and Janice Riley, cousin of the bride. Flower girl was Kathy Britling, cousin of the bridegroom, and Eugene Croley, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wanda Brown, sister of the bride. Gloria Dew and Mrs. Clara McMennamy, bridesmaids, wore identical blue taffeta dresses covered with blue silk organza and styled with blue organza short overskirts. They carried bouquets of pink daisies.

George Kuehler was best man. Groomsmen were Tommy Davis and Dee Zane Pond, and ushers were Johnny Regal and Bob Knupp.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional cathedral styled gown of silk taffeta styled in a princess silhouette. The bodice of silk organza was trimmed with appliqued silk organza roses along the Sabrina neckline and cap sleeves. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a scalloped cap of imported rosepoint lace enhanced with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations and a white orchid.

A reception in the social hall of the church followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a light green organza dress with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids for a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M. The couple are now at home at 1703 W. 6th.

Mrs. O'Donald is a graduate of Amarillo High School and is employed by Blackburn Brothers Suburban store. Mr. O'Donald is a graduate of Canyon High School and has attended West Texas State College. He is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Amarillo.

A SPICE OF DANGER

An Englishman was once invited by a New York man to accompany him on a hunting trip to Long Island.

"Large or small game?" queried the Britisher, who had hunted in every quarter of the globe.

"You don't expect to find lions and tigers on Long Island, do you?"

"Hardly, but I like a spice of danger in my hunting."

"If that's the case," answered the New Yorker, "I'm your man all right. The last time I went out I shot my brother in the leg."

4 Operas, 2 Days Set for WT Tour

Four operas in two days will be the fare for a group who will take the special "Weekend of Opera" tour to Central City, Colo., July 18-20, sponsored by West Texas State College.

Reservations for the weekend trip may be made with Dr. Ples Harper, head of the modern languages department who acts as director for the annual summer events. A second special weekend is planned Aug. 9-11 for dramatic productions.

The group travels to Central City by chartered air-conditioned bus, and spends two nights in Denver.

On July 18, the group will attend the Red Rocks Music Festival and will see Wagner's "Die Walkure," which stars six Metropolitan Opera singers. They are Margaret Harshaw, Albert Da Costa, Heidi Kraal, James Pease, Kenneth Smith and Beatrice Crabbe.

Slated for a matinee performance Saturday, July 19 at the Central City Opera House is "La Perichole" by Jacques Offenbach. It will star Cyril Ritchard who performed the role for the Metropolitan Opera and the nation-wide television production last year.

A double bill is scheduled for Saturday night, when Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" and Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be presented.

Those making the trip will also visit the points of interest in Central City, including the Chain O' Mines Hotel, the Teller House and other places made famous during Colorado's gold rush days.

Vicar Honored By Patio Party

Mrs. O. L. Coleman honored the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Krader with an informal patio party July 2 at her home, Fanita Park.

The Rev. Krader, who recently arrived from Hawaii, is resident vicar in the Episcopal Little House of Fellowship here.

Enjoying the occasion were the honorees and the guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Glenn, Capt. and Mrs. H. P. Ball, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Findley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Waits, Mrs. Earl Reynolds, Mrs. Michael Morris, Mrs. Houston Bright, Mrs. William Henderson, Mrs. Warren Parker, Bynum, David and Elizabeth Morris.

Wedding rings are placed on the third finger of the left hand because of an old Egyptian belief that a nerve ran from that finger to the heart.

Palo Duro Players Will Attempt To Recreate Arden Forest Here

When William Shakespeare dreamed up his idyllic pastoral comedy, "As You Like It," he didn't pay too much attention to physical geography. His Forest of Arden—set in England—contained a lioness, a huge serpent, and other flora and fauna of a tropical clime.

The Palo Duro Players of West Texas State College's summer theatre will try to recreate the Forest of Arden when they present "As You Like It" Wednesday through Saturday nights at 8:15.

The forest was a little difficult to "build" within the limited confines of the Branding Iron Theatre stage, so the players have combined the idea of an outside stage and an outside auditorium to not only get their forest but to get the audience the advantages of the cool Panhandle evenings.

Performances will be given each night before the Education Building, with the "stage" before the archways and among the trees at the entrance. The audience will be seated on the chairs arranged on the lawn in front of the building.

The open air auditorium will help capture the "open air" feeling of the play, wherein action all takes place in the Forest of Arden, to which Duke Senior, his daughter, Rosalind, and his court have been banished.

Directors of the "Starlight Shakespeare" are William A. and Margaret Moore, with Robert L. Antrim the techncial director with the problem of building a forest. Admission on Wednesday will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. On other nights it will be 75 and 50 cents.

Appearing in lead roles are Jerry Williams of Canyon as Orlando, Tommy Culpepper of Canyon as Touchstone, Marty Hinson of Groom as Rosalind, and Rae June Hamilton of Amarillo as Celia. Jim Perkins of Borger appears as Duke Senior, Pluma Jo Metcalf of Vega as Phebe, Roy Lowe of Amarillo as Jaques, and Larry Hamilton of Amarillo as Oliver.

Others are Jack Reynolds of White Deer as Duke Frederick and Adam, Fawayne Murphy of Dimmitt as Amiens, James Hinkley of Pampa as Le Beau and Silvius the shepherd, Don Hickman of Canyon as Jaques de Boys, William, and Lord to Duke Senior.

Charles Pierce of Canyon as Sir Oliver Martext and Lord to Frederick, Dan Stallings of Pampa as Corin, Roberta Hickman of Canyon as Audrey, and William A. Moore Jr., as a page.

Baptists Slate Homecoming Day

Sunday will be Homecoming for all former members at the First Baptist Church, according to the Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor.

Several former members will have part in the worship programs, both morning and evening. Preceded by Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., morning worship service will be held at 11 a. m. Evening services will be held at 6 p. m. A basket dinner will be served in Fellowship Hall after the morning worship hour.

All former members are urged to attend.

Wendell Cain Goes To ROTC Camp

Dr. Wendell Cain, associate professor of speech, will represent West Texas State College on an official visit Thursday at Fort Hood, where 32 WT Reserve Officers' Training Corps cadets are attending summer camp.

Dr. Cain will visit the men during several phases of their training program, and along with other visitors will see the facilities of the camp. They will review the Cadet Corps on parade and will go into the field while the cadets go through field maneuvers.
